- Lottery applications can be for any week starting November 28, 2009 with the final week available for application being the week of May 22-29, 2010.
- Applicants can enter the lottery for groups of 5, 10 or 20.
- Application fee is $15.00 for every high season week applied for in the lottery. It is complimentary to apply for low season weeks.
- A winner for each week will be selected along with a backup winner and a second backup winner.
- Low season weeks are from November 28, 2009 to January 15, 2010 and from April 17, 2010 to the end of May 2010.
- Low season week price: $300.00 / person and includes 7 night's accommodation.
- High season week price: $820.00 / person and include 7 night's accommodation and return helicopter flights.
- All gear, food, and any other item being flown on the helicopter may be weighed at staging. The weight limit for items (other than people) being flown to the hut is 100 lbs per person.
- We encourage all groups that are successful in the lottery to limit 'bulk' when packing. Please pack gear and food accordingly considering that gear, food, and 21 people need to fit on 5 helicopter flights.
- The only way to apply in the lottery is to use the online system.
- The winning applicant in the lottery will be considered the week's group leader and will be the liaison between the group and the Alpine Club of Canada. The winning applicant will also be responsible for making all deposit and final payments.
- Deposit schedule: 10% of the total booking cost is due at the time of booking. An additional 10% of the total booking cost is due six months prior to the group's arrival at the hut. The invoice balance is due three months prior to the group's arrival at the hut. All payments – once made – are non refundable.
- No refunds will be given for any reason should your group or a portion of your group be unable to reach the facility. The Club can help you with insurance options including cancellation insurance. Please inquire should you and your group be interested in learning more about these options.
- Pricing is subject to change without notice.
